1. PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The University of Canberra, Faculty of Education has developed a unique approach to postgraduate learning to meet the changing needs of our profession.

The Master of Education (Capital Region Program) is an innovative and specially designed program to meet the needs of classroom teachers and educational leaders (current and aspiring) in the Capital Region.

The program includes units which are selected and developed to provide rich, rigorous learning opportunities utilising an intensive delivery approach and designed to support the development of a regional community of practice. The selection of units has been based on alignment with the ACT Future of Education Strategy and the strategic directions of our region.

The 2019 cohort of sixty teachers and educational leaders have provided excellent feedback about the experience and quality of learning in the program and we are greatly looking forward to welcoming the next group of professionals in 2020.

AT A GLANCE

A postgraduate qualification for teachers and educational leaders from the Capital Region which can be completed in two years (part-time)

Delivered in intensive blocks during school holiday periods designed to meet the needs of educational professionals

A curriculum integrating theory and real-world application tailored to meet the needs of educators

A curriculum that supports and values excellence in classroom practices and leadership development

Networking opportunities

Access to national and international guest speakers and educational leaders

Tailored to meet the needs of educators within the region and reflecting the intent and strategic directions of the regional education sector

A capstone unit offering portfolio-based or research-based learning