

ANME ANNUAL LECTURE 2025

Shining a light on generations of Torres Strait Islander school teachers

Dr Kay Whitehead is an Emerita Professor of History of Education at Flinders University and an Adjunct Professor at the University of South Australia. She has published more than 100 articles, mostly on the lives, work and transnational travel of Australian, Canadian and British women educators from the late nineteenth to the mid-twentieth century. She is currently focusing on a history of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander school teachers.

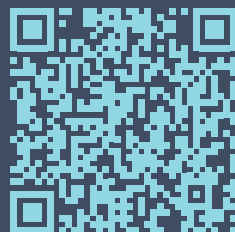

When: Friday 19 Sept 5.30–7.30pm

Where: INSPIRE Centre (Building 25)
University of Canberra

Entry fee $30 per adult and $10 per student
Drinks and canapés will be served upon arrival.

RSVP by Monday 15 Sept

Enquiries please email ANME@canberra.edu.au

Scan QR code to book or register through bit.ly/47hjQ2W