About this course

Strategically negotiate the media minefield

Does the world of PR, media, strategy or marketing management get those communication neurons firing? Then gain a career leg-up with a flexible qualification (yes, that means electives) that will teach you the nuances of political marketing, digital media literacy and the role of journalism in the political process.

You'll develop high-level written, oral and visual skills, enhance your ability to think critically (and on the fly) and be immersed in the heady world of campaigning, lobbying and public diplomacy. Plus, an internship opportunity will allow you to engage with valuable peers in a range of industry and community contexts, meaning you'll be well on your way to a career in the public spotlight before you can pen that first attention-grabbing PR release!

Combine a Bachelor of Arts / Bachelor of Communication in Media and Public Affairs at UC and you will:

- develop an in-depth understanding of contemporary society and politics
- develop digital media literacy and a basic competency in a range of communication skills and media research methodologies
- gain an appreciation of research ethics and social responsibility
- learn about communication processes including elections, campaigning, lobbying, public diplomacy, the role of the media in foreign relations and the implications of globalisation
- engage in complex ethical questions, strategic thinking and problem solving
- develop high level written, oral and visual communication skills, the ability to think critically, and the capacity to identify, analyse and use information relevant to professional practice in the digital era.

Work-integrated learning

In this course, you can undertake a workplace internship as part of the Faculty of Arts and Design's commitment to supporting work integrated learning, which will enhance your employability and ensure you're armed with the right mix of skills and knowledge to take a super-confident leap into your future career.

Career opportunities

Opportunities exist for Bachelor of Arts / Bachelor of Communication in Media and Public Affairs graduates in a range of sectors, including in:

- Public Relations
- Communication Policy
- Marketing Management
- Economic Development
- Education Administration
- Administration
- Arts and Culture
- Media

Learning outcomes

Learning outcomes	Related graduate attributes
To provide students with a flexible preparation for many areas of vocational and professional employment, as well as the broad perspective required for informed citizenship through an in-depth understanding of three discipline areas. The course aims to equip students with a range of skills necessary for being an independent thinker, and to improve your ability to deal confidently and effectively with complex reasoning, argumentation and divergent thinking. Further, the course aims to develop students' capacities to analyse and evaluate complex arguments, to construct strong and convincing arguments and to communicate those arguments effectively. It also aims to develop skills needed for idea generation and creative problem solving. The course provides foundation units in the first year to develop all the essential generic skills as listed in the UC Generic Skills Policy. The UC Generic Skills are also developed across the three Majors. While some units in some Majors focus on a few of the Generic Skills, by the completion of a Major, all the skills have been developed. These skills are developed in a general (Foundation units) and discipline specific way (Majors and Open Electives). The course also provides open electives from any discipline within the University of Canberra.	1. Communication: The ability to present knowledge, ideas and opinions effectively and communicate within and across professional and cultural boundaries. 2. Analysis and inquiry: The ability to gather information, and to analyse and evaluate information and situations in a systematic, creative and insightful way. 3. Problem solving: The ability to apply problem-solving processes in novel situations; to identify and analyse problems then formulate and implement solutions. 4. Working independently and with others: The ability to plan their own work, be self-directed, and use interpersonal skills and attitudes to work collaboratively. 5. Professionalism and social responsibility: The capacity and intention to use professional knowledge and skills ethically and responsibly, for the benefit of others and the environment.
