About this course

The path to sporting excellence needs great management

Behind every story of sporting excellence is the often-untold story of skilled planning and strong management. Our Bachelor of Sports Management was the first of its kind in Australia and has since become a leader in the field of professional sports management education.

Throughout the course, you will develop a strong working knowledge of management theory and practice. The course has been co-designed by academics and leading industry professionals to ensure students graduate with relevant and contemporary sport management skills. With a strong focus on work integrated learning (WIL) with practical outcomes for industry partners, you will be prepared to enter the rapidly growing global industry that is the management of sport.

The course covers aspects of sport from grassroots community levels through to studying high-performance sports management at an Olympic level. The degree takes a student through the journey of sport from an amateur pastime to the evolution of the globalised, commercialised and professionalised industry that it is today.

Study The Bachelor of Sports Management at UC and you will:

- set your pathway to further learning in a variety of sports disciplines
- build strong knowledge of contemporary management theory and practice
- equip yourself with specialised knowledge in specific fields of sports management

- network with current academic and professional leaders in sport
- explore complementary disciplines such as sport media with the flexibility of your study plan open electives
- be equipped to work in the industry through consistent Work Integrated Learning

Work-integrated learning

All students will complete 400 hours of work integrated learning over the course of the three-year degree program. Students will work alongside industry partners, including state sports organisations, government organisations (ACTAS, AIS, ASC, School Sport) and professional sporting teams (NRL, Super Rugby, W-League, WNBL, ABL), to prepare innovative development programs, marketing plans, grant proposals, events and other work integrated assessments. Students will complete a thoroughly engaging internship in their final year providing an invaluable opportunity to gain practical experience and form strong and healthy relationships within the industry before graduating.

Career opportunities

Globally, the sports business industry is an ever-expanding multibillion-dollar industry that has considerable impact and influence on society at all levels. A UC bachelor of sports management degree will give you the necessary skills, experience, and qualifications to be able to enter this industry and navigate a career path in a variety of different areas including:

- Sports management and operations
- Sports marketing
- Sports sponsorship
- Sports media and public relations
- Facility management
- Sports event management
- Membership and ticketing
- Management of sports, recreation and leisure clubs
- Advisory and policy roles in the public and private sector
- Sports management research programs (Honours, Masters, and Ph.D.) ;
