About this course

Turn creativity into sustainability

Discover how to turn creativity into a sustainable business venture with UC's Graduate Certificate in Creative Business.

Developed in collaboration with the Compton School of Business, this course helps you start, build, finance, and manage your own creative business. You'll collaborate with students from different creative industries to solve common business problems and dive into essential business topics through case studies, group exercises and an individual project.

Our teaching is grounded in real-world business models and practices of the creative industries. We address the unique challenges creative businesses face, empowering you to take control of the business side of your creative work. In just 6-months part-time, you'll be equipped to develop sustainable creative businesses and lead a creative life.

Study a Graduate Certificate in Creative Business at UC and you will:

- learn about the structures and processes that shape creative enterprises
- gain practical skills and tools for day-to-day operations
- put theory into practice by developing your own personal business plan

- be mentored by Compton's Creative Fellows
- explore the core tools of financial analysis in business
- gain unrivalled access to industry stakeholders and grow your professional networks
- earn a unique and practical qualification and be in-demand

Work Integrated Learning (WIL)

WIL is an integral component of all learning at the University of Canberra, offering students opportunities to gain valuable hands-on experience and build professional relationships through real-world projects and professional experience.

UC's Graduate Certificate in Creative Business connects students to real-world education through online and part-time learning.

With a group of your creative peers, you will participate in case studies and group assignments, learning from each other and expanding your creative network.

Over the duration of the course, you'll develop a personal business project using knowledge drawn from teaching and tutorials. This project can be an existing business, a new business, or a new creative project – even an idea you think is worth developing. You'll be supported and mentored through the project by Compton's Creative Fellows – an expert team of successful, creative professionals who will help you do your best work, offering advice, feedback and insights as you progress.

By the end of the course, you'll be ready to take the next big step in your career.

Career opportunities

Creative Business graduates typically find employment in the creative industries, either as self-employed individuals or in existing positions. Our goal is to provide you with the knowledge and skills to start or expand your own creative business. Career pathways include:

- Entrepreneur
- Small business owner
- Freelance Photographer or Videographer
