Level B $70.00 - $95.00*

Level C $110.00 - $150.00*

HOME VISITS

(Depending on length and time pt seen)

$150.00 - $250.00*

AFTER HOURS

Emergency Attendance – fees may vary up to $250.00*

* Fees as at October 2022

Fees for other services are available on request. Please ask at the Reception Desk. Difficulties in payment should be discussed with the consulting doctor before the consultation. Please ask at the Reception Desk for more information on fees. Nurses and counselling services are free. Staff can also be seen in Workers Compensations matters.

health insurance – It is essential that all Australian students have a Medicare number. UC Students are bulk-billed for most medical consultations. Australian students not dependent on their parents and earning low incomes may be eligible for a Health Care Card. This card also entitles the holder to cheaper PBS medicines. More information and application forms for Health Care Cards are available from Centrelink. All international students are required to have overseas student health insurance (for example Medibank Private or Allianz Global Assist overseas student health cover). These cards must be presented at every visit to Medical and Counselling Centre.

confidentiality – The Medical & Counselling Centre recognises the importance of privacy and confidentiality for all our patients/clients and those that visit our website. The Medical and Counselling Centre provides an ethical and confidential service. Your medical/counselling record is a confidential document. It is the policy of this practice to maintain security of personal health information at all times and to ensure that this information is only available to authorised members of staff. Our Privacy Policy is consistent with the Privacy Act 1998 & the Health Record (Privacy and Access) Act 1997 (ACT). The University does not have access to Medical and Counselling Centre records. We maintain separate record systems. The Medical and Counselling Centre will not release any information pertaining to patients/clients to family, friends or the University without the patient's/client's prior specific written consent. For information about our Privacy Policy and how it relates to your personal health or counselling record, or how to access that information please ask our staff.

hours - The Medical and Counselling Centre is open Monday - Friday, 9am to 5pm (with the exception of public holidays and official University shut down periods i.e. Christmas to New Year) and provides a year round service. Home visits can be arranged when necessary, but please keep them for urgent cases as the doctors are much better equipped to examine and treat problems in the surgery setting.

afterhours - When the Centre is closed, medical care for patients of the University of Canberra Medical and Counselling Centre can be accessed through the Canberra After hours Locum Medical Service CALMS. Their phone number is 1300 422 567. This number is also on the Medical Centre answering machine when the Medical Centre is closed. Should you need to speak to a Dr between 8am and 5pm or between 5pm and 6pm Monday to Friday, please call the Medical Centre mobile on 0409 507 734. There is also an after hours GP helpline available through Healthdirect Australia on 1800 022 222.

For any emergency or extremely urgent problems, or if you are unable to contact a doctor, please ring:

Ambulance (Life threatening emergencies only)	Phone: 000
Accident and Emergency - Calvary Hospital (Northside)	Phone: 6201 6111
Accident and Emergency - Canberra Hospital (Southside)	Phone: 6244 2611
Lifeline (Counselling service)	Phone: 13 11 14
Access Mental Health	Phone: 1800 629 354

appointments to see the doctors - Our practice classifies patients seeking or presenting for medical consultations according to their priority of need; thus patients with urgent medical problems will be triaged and seen as a priority. Except in emergencies, appointments are required to see the doctors, and are normally made at 15 minute intervals. To encourage continuity of care we also suggest that you request your preferred doctor at the time of booking your appointment. Certain consultations are best dealt with by a longer appointment. These include consultations for more complex problems or multiple problems, mental health care plans, medical examinations, taxi medicals, driving medicals, medical procedures, or if there is more than one person seeing the doctor, eg. if you are bringing your partner or child/ren. If you feel that you may need a longer appointment please discuss this with Reception staff at the time of booking your appointment. Appointments can also be booked online using the HOTDOC App.

Medical attention is provided for emergencies in the Centre and on campus at short notice. Whilst every effort is made by Medical Centre staff to keep to appointment times, delays are sometimes unavoidable. If you have been waiting for more than 20 minutes, or if you are unable to wait, please speak to the reception staff.

The University of Canberra Medical and Counselling Centre is committed to providing its patients/clients with the highest standard of care. Part of this involves a recall and preventative health care reminder system. In order that we may provide this service we ask that you notify Reception staff of any changes in your personal details eg. address, phone numbers etc. For more information on this service, please ask our staff.

pathology – If you have had any pathology taken (for eg. blood tests, Pap smear, urine test), or an x-ray or an ultrasound done on your doctor's advice, please ensure that you have been informed of the result. In case we need to contact you, please make sure that your contact details are current and correct. If you have not been requested to make a follow-up consultation by your doctor, then please ring the Medical Centre in a week to obtain any follow-up advice from the doctor you consulted.

messages for doctors – To maximise the quality of your consultation/appointment, doctors will not usually be available for telephone contact during consulting hours. However, a message may be left, and if appropriate, they will return your call. It will assist if you could provide the reception staff with some information regarding the nature of your inquiry and its urgency. If you feel that the matter is urgent, please ask to speak to one of the Registered Nurses. This practice does not have the facility to receive communications via SMS or email.

children - We ask that parents please keep children under their supervision at all times whilst in the Centre. If you should need to change or feed a baby/child, please let the staff know and they will show you to one of our Rest Rooms.

compliments/complaints - Should you wish to make any compliments or offer any suggestions as to how we can improve our services, please speak to the Director Dr Jenny Weekes.

If you are dissatisfied with any aspect of the care that you have received at this Centre please let Dr Weekes know. If your concerns are not resolved you can then contact the Health Services Commissioner by phoning 6205 2222.
