

When creating my Original Character Bittyboo, a lot of inspiration was taken from the character Spinel, from Steven universe. When looking at Spinels design, the shapes used were mostly circles. I used and implied Spinels' shape language when creating Bittyboo.

Another character I took inspiration from was Fizzarolli from Helluva Boss. Fizzarolli is an evil clown demon, and when looking at his character design, I was heavily influenced upon the contrasting colours he has, as well as the sharp shape language.

I took inspiration of both these characters personality traits to create her and this art piece.

The last character that influenced me is a character from One Piece, called Doflamingo. I took inspiration of his personality and facial expressions he made throughout the anime.

I started this drawing by sketching it out on paper. After completing the sketch, I uploaded it to my drawing app. When doing the line art and colouring, I used different sizes of the normal paint brush tool. This helped with creating balance. I used the blending tool to help blend the shading along with the lighting to help create depth in the artwork. To get the glowing effect and texture, I layered multiple colours on top of each other than blurred it slightly.
