

Vessel – Melissa Reid

This piece was created as an assignment for a school project last year. The task was to create a vessel that could hold some form of treasure. With some time sketching and developing various ideas, I eventually landed on a beautifully disguised underwater vessel, that could hold all manner of things, drawing inspiration from clams, oysters, and various colours of the sea.