

This is the picture I began with:

I have never really attempted realism before therefore, as a first attempt I'm very proud. It took me a few days to finish this project while balancing school but I worked hard on it almost every chance I got.

(Bright version of drawing)