

My artwork was made by hand with majority masking tape for a base and faux fur covering.

The main idea and themes are inspired by my Autistic hyperfixation, Five Nights at Freddy's, so the characters are inspired by the designs and characters within this franchise.

The characters in the artworks represent in-universe characters and themes, Mila the rabbit is representative of the in-universe co-creator of the pizzeria, Michelle Betts. Her pink heart theming shows compassion which reflects Michelle's passion for her creation and to create while Mila's counterpart, Hawthorne represents a commodification of art and art making into a purely monetary gain. Dragons being creatures known to hoard wealth as well as the theming of the colour green and diamonds also representing wealth and greed. This reflects on the other in-universe co-creator, Timothy Reives, who became obsessed with gaining wealth and turned Michelle's characters and designs into a business.

There's also probably some other symbolism that happened to work out but I can't see it for myself, my practice usually involves myself putting things together that feel right and end up being perfectly symbolic with the character.
