

TINY HOME, BIG POSSIBILITIES

Major Design Project | 2024 | Darcy Ballentine

My passion for building design motivated me to tackle this design concept head-on. The constraints of working within a confined space only served to enhance my understanding and appreciation for the significance of space in building design. Each wall and appliance has a specific function and purpose, and it was through precise manipulation of these elements that I was able to craft a space that seamlessly blends appropriateness with practicality.

The challenge of integrating space-saving solutions further fueled my creativity, pushing me to think outside the box and come up with innovative solutions. In the end, this project served as a testament to my ability to transform limitations into opportunities for creativity and design excellence.
