

GALAMBANY

By Shanaya Randeniya

DESCRIPTION:

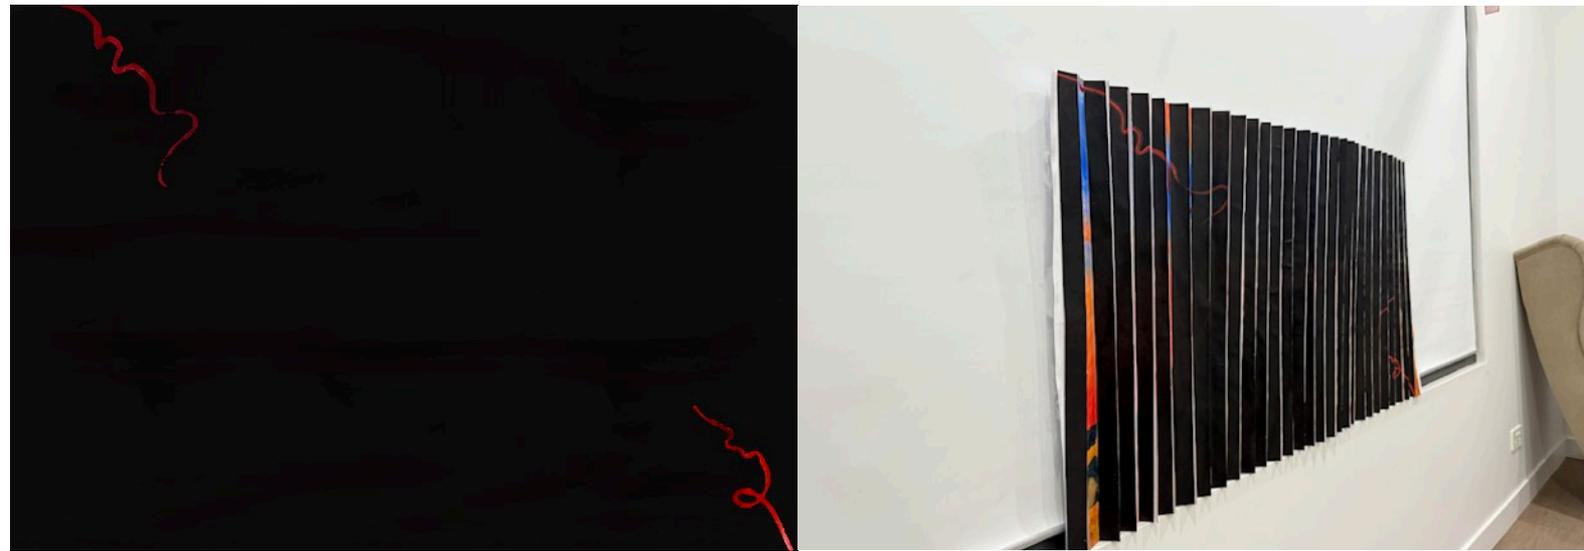

This lenticular artwork unfolds a powerful visual narrative as the viewer moves from left to right. Initially shrouded in darkness, a faint, enigmatic thread of life appears—partially obscured, its meaning unclear. As the viewer shifts perspective, the word "Galambany" emerges, bridging the fragmented strands, revealing Uluru in a vivid burst of color. The iconic Australian landmark stands as a beacon of unity, symbolizing the profound inclusiveness that "Galambany" represents. The transformation from shadow to light evokes the beauty and harmony that inclusiveness brings to the world, offering a breathtaking moment of revelation.

ART PROCESS:

To create this artwork, I painted two separate designs on A2 paper using acrylic paint. For the rocky and grassy textures in the second piece, I used sponges and firm, swift brushstrokes, blending three different shades. After completing both paintings, I cut each into 28 strips, each 3cm wide, and adhered them to two combined A2 sheets. By folding the strips alternately, I crafted an illusion where each side reveals a distinct painting, transforming the viewer's perspective with movement.
